As per our phone conversation, yes the plans show 7 live work units that are detached as allowed by code

1. The living space may be within the same building and share some of the same space as the workspace; or attached to the building where the workspace is located; or detached on the same property as the workspace.

E. Multiple Work-Live Space Requirements:

1. Multiple work-live spaces, either attached or detached, may be located on any lot subject to the other provisions of this title.

Each Live/Work unit is numbered so you can identify the 7 units and where each live and workspace is located.

Hi Jason,

It is our understanding from Mr.Hurd that this is intended to be a live-work-create project. The plans seem to show separate live and work units. This would be a mixed use development. Can you please verify that you would like this to be a live-work-create project and not a mixed use project? Also, if that is the case, can you please resubmit the plan showing the work units that are associated with the live units. Please let me know as I have a dead line for the noticing, if you can have the new plans to me by 2 pm also, if you need to make changes.

Thanks,
